Annexure XXVIII: Best Practice No. I

1) Title of the Practice: Scholar of the Year Award

2) Goals, Aims and Objectives of the Practice:

The practice has twin objectives.

- 1) To appreciate scholarship in business education particularly in the field of management, business practices, economics and finance.
- 2) To bring about an interaction between the awardee scholar on the one hand and faculty and students on the other during the Foundation Day Lecture that he delivers.

This is a unique and innovative practice in the sense that there have been awards and recognition bestowed on business people who achieved success in their businesses however there were hardly any awards for the people who have dedicated their best years pursuing business scholarship. The college is an academic institution in the field of business education named after Sir Ness Wadia who was one of the leading lights of India's industry in the 19th Century and had a high regard for the educational sector. The college therefore thought it was best suited to institute this award. The award is presented generally at the hands of the Vice Chancellor of the Savitribai Phule Pune University, Pune on the college Foundation Day.

3) The Context:

One of the challenges that had to be faced was the identification of the scholar for the conferment of the award. The award was to be bestowed upon a person of national stature and as such help was sought from the faculty and well-wishers of the college. The challenge was successfully met.

4) The Practice:

The practice consists of inviting to the college a nationally known scholar in the commerce related fields of management, business practices, economics and finance. The scholar is requested to accept the "Scholar of the Year" award at the hands of the Savitribai Phule Pune University Vice Chancellor on the Foundation Day of the College (16 July). The scholar is also requested to deliver a lecture on a contemporary relevant topic of his choice which takes place in the evening at around 6 pm. The lecture is open to faculty, students, alumni and few selected invitees from general public. It is followed by a dialogue between the awardee and the audience.

The award is presented to the scholar at the main function and thereafter the awardee gives a short acceptance speech.

As mentioned above, the award is unique in the sense that it recognizes the neglected areas of business scholarship; perhaps a new concept in the country not initiated anywhere else but the Ness Wadia College of Commerce.

The implementation of the practice has tried to dispel the misconception that scholarship is the monopoly of social and natural sciences. The business scholarship may be regarded as a new area of scholarship that is going to assume increasing importance especially in the context of rapidly privatizing and globalizing world of today.

5) Evidence of Success:

The practice which was introduced in 2004 has been immediately successful. So far as many as 11 scholars of nations repute have addressed the students, faculty and other stakeholders under its auspices. The scholars have included such eminent dignitaries as Dr. Gita Piramal (2004), Business historian and writer, Dr. Narendra Jadhav, Economist and Banker; Former Member, Planning Commission, Former Vice Chancellor, Savitribai Phule Pune University (2005), Dr. Prakash Apte, Management Scholar; Director, IIM, Bangalore (2006), the Late Dr. Suresh Tendulkar, Economist; Formerly Director, Delhi School of Economics, (2007), Dr. Ganti Subrahmaniam, Former Director, National Institute of Bank Management, Pune (2008), Dr. Ajit Ranade, Economist and Columnist (2009), Prof. V. Chandrashekhar, Professor of Business, Indian School of Business, Hyderabad (2010), CA Mayur Nayak, Leading Chartered Accountant, Mumbai (2011), Shri. Dharmakirti Joshi, Chief Economist, CRISIL, Mumbai (2012), Shri. Achyut Godbole, Managing Director, Softexcel Consulting Services (2013) and Dr. Vikas Chitre, Eminent Economist & President, Indian School of Political Economy (2014). The topics too have been varied (Democratization of Capital, India in a Globalizing World: Retrospect and Prospects, Does Support to Ongoing Market-oriented Reforms Require Giving up on Socialism? etc.).

The success of the practice may be indicated by the following observations:

- a) All the scholars approached have accepted the college request to come down to Pune on the specific day and time of Foundation Day celebrations and have spent more than 4 hours on the campus. That probably shows the importance they attach to the award.
- b) The lecture is attended by a large number of students, the faculty and invitees who make the discussion at the end of the lecture very interesting by asking varied questions.

6) Problems encountered and Resources required:

The idea was immediately accepted by the members of the Modern Education Society as well as the college faculty which is known to hold progressive views on many social matters. The resources required may have posed the problem. But they were made available considering the immense benefit of the practice to the students, faculty and the stature of the college. In general, the financial support required may be in the range of Rs. 75000 to Rs. 100000.

Annexure XXVIX: Best Practice No. II

1) Title of the Practice: Late Prin. Dr. B. S. Bhanage Memorial Seminar

2) Goal, Aims and Objectives of the Practice:

The objective of the practice is to encourage the teachers in commerce colleges to cultivate the habit of research and enable them to present their research conclusions before the fellow teacher community. The seminar is an annual event and is organized in rotation by each department. The topic of the seminar is connected with the subjects taught under the department. The papers presented at the seminar are published in the form of conference proceedings/journal.

3) The Context:

A very difficult challenge in organizing a seminar like this is to ensure the availability of enough research papers to be presented. The seminar date has to be decided well in advance so that the participants get enough time to prepare the paper. The faculty members therefore sound well in advance their colleagues in other colleges about the theme of the seminar. These are only some of the minor problems. The college has successfully got over these hurdles and been conducting the seminar over the last 14 years.

4) The Practice:

The practice consists of organizing a seminar for the teachers in the commerce colleges in Pune and its surroundings. The seminar is hosted by the various college departments in rotation and the theme of the seminar is related to the subjects taught under the hosting department. The college has nine departments thus requiring each department to organize the seminar once in nine years. The seminar has three sessions: inaugural with Key Note Address, Technical Sessions and Valedictory presided over by experienced teachers or scholars or business professionals who make their comments at the end of the sessions on papers presented. The seminar is inaugurated at the hands of a well-known scholar or a person of eminence in the field of industry and commerce who delivers the key-note address. A small number of academically good students are invited to the seminar.

The papers presented at the seminar are published in due course in the form of a compiled volume.

The practice is in interest of all the stakeholders: teachers, students and management in an educational institution. This becomes clear from the following:

- a) The students stand to benefit from this practice since the seminar theme is always related to the subjects taught in classrooms. Thus the knowledge gained by the participant-teachers during the seminar is useful in classroom teaching.

- b) A seminar like this offers teachers an opportunity an incentive to do research and present their findings to fellow teaching community. It also adds to their CV for their career advancement.
- c) For the institution it is an opportunity to reinforce its academic bond with other colleges in the city and elsewhere. Especially it serves as a platform for rural and urban teachers to come together for productive academic interaction.

5) Evidence of Success:

- a) The Bhanage Memorial Seminar was introduced in 1999 and has continued to be organized uninterruptedly for the last 14 years. Thus the duration of the practice very prominently indicates its success over the years.
- b) The seminar has become a prominent annual event for commerce teachers in state of Maharashtra and neighboring states for presenting their research papers. Substantial number of research papers has been presented so far under the auspices of the seminar.
- c) The response of the teachers to the call for papers and attendance has been very encouraging.

6) Problems encountered and Resources required:

A seminar like this, costs around Rs. 200000 to Rs. 250000. The college has earmarked certain amount from its own funds and is also willing to share the burden in the form of seminar fee and sponsorship from the funding agency like UGC or Savitribai Phule Pune University. Since the writing of a research paper is a welcome addition to the teacher's CV, the teachers too are interested in submitting papers. The practice takes care of the interests of all the stakeholders and so need not meet with any problems as such in its implementation.
