I. The Beginning

The history of the Ness Wadia College of Commerce can be traced back to June 1959 when the Pre-Degree Commerce class was started in the Nowrosjee Wadia College. Over the years since then, the college has witnessed a phenomenal increase in its strength of students. When in 1969 the college shifted to its present premises, its strength had reached around 700. Today the college boasts of strength of more than 5000 students.

The college has been named in memory of Sir Ness Wadia (1873-1952), philanthropist and leading industrialist of his times. To him and to his brother Sir Cusrow, the Modern Education Society owes a debt of gratitude too great to be adequately expressed in words.

The College was inaugurated on 16 July 1969 by Dr. H.V. Pataskar, the then Vice-Chancellor of the University of Pune. Late Dr. B. S. Bhanage who was to become later the Vice Chancellor of the Shivaji University was the first Principal of the College. He was followed in 1972 by Prin. V.K. Nulkar and in 1991 by Dr. H.M. Shaikh, in 2000 by Dr. (Ms.) V.S. Devdhar, in 2009 by Dr. H. V. Devasthali, in 2010 by Dr. M. M. Andar and in 2017 Professor Dr. Girija Shankar took charge as principal.

III. Accreditation at 'A' Level: A Historical Landmark

The College is ranked by India Today in its survey as one of the top three in the city. These distinctions achieved by the college are a mark of hard work put in by its staff, the respectability its management enjoys in public and the support it has received from the student community over the years.

IV. Recipient of the 'Best College Award'

The college has received the distinction of being selected by the University of Pune for the 'Best College Award' for the year 2004-05. The award was given ceremoniously by the Vice Chancellor on the University Foundation Day (February 10, 2005).

Background and Objectives:
Continuous growth of Indian economy since 1991 has increased disposable incomes of its citizens. Capital and money markets are evolving continuously enabling participants to strike new combinations of risk and reward to maximize wealth. People are enjoying longer life spans but do not enjoy the comfort of secure pensions to take care of old age. Fast pace of life has increased volatility all around.

Under these conditions, individuals need competent advice for managing their incomes prudently. They have to save money to realise their financial goals and take care of life after retirement. Savings can be invested in a number of avenues ranging from small savings schemes to equity and real assets such as housing property, gold and valuables. Each avenue has distinct features and plus, minus points. They need to be chosen with care. And there is tax law to determine what cut the government will take from income, depending upon the avenue of investment.

Therefore there is an acute need for persons who have knowledge of these areas and who can offer competent advice to individuals. The need is so great that a personal financial advisor can look forward to a growing list of clients. Of course, he has to have the necessary knowledge and win the trust of clients. Practising financial planners aver that they have to specialize in one or a few investment avenues.

PIWM is designed to help interested students to get started in this field. It covers all the different aspects of personal investment management with up-to-date information. Experts in concerned areas deliver lectures over weekends to cover the syllabus. Other learning tools such as case studies, presentations, mock interface and tests supplement the lectures. Interested students can look forward to practical training and apprenticeship, too.

PIWM aims to make students undertake their own financial planning and to think of this area as a possible career choice.
